

Barbara Boedeker

I first fell in love with New Mexico when my husband was stationed at Kirtland AFB in the late '70's. Upon retirement from the Air Force in '81 we returned "home" to Wisconsin with the vow to someday return to the beautiful "Land of Enchantment", which we did in 1989. Over the years I have worked in various media, including pastels, acrylic, batik & stained glass.

The inspiration for my latest work comes from ancient Indian rock art; both petroglyph & pictograph. One cannot help but wonder about the long-lost meaning behind these strange & haunting figures.
