Bart Fischer

Bart Fischer is a well-known landscape and architectural artist living in Alto, New Mexico.

His grandmother was a water colorist and prominent jewelry engraver who encouraged Bart in all artistic fields.

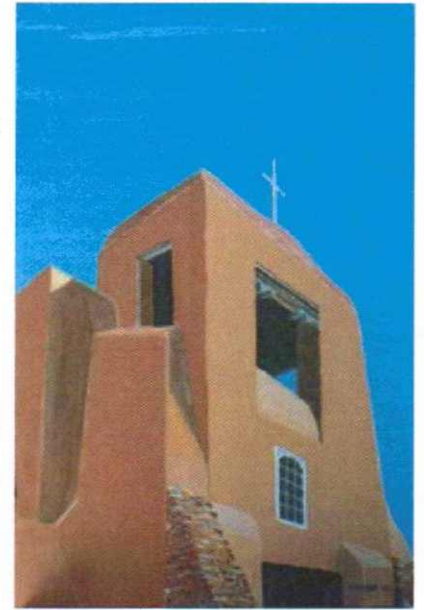

As a young man he developed into a quality musician with his trumpet and upon graduation from High school received prestigious "Who's Who In Art" award.

He graduated from Texas Tech in Architecture, opened his own office in El Paso, Tx producing numerous architectural award winning projects.

Although talented in music and art architecture obviously has influenced his later life as an artist as evidenced with his interest in landscapes and historical mission type buildings.

Bart specializes in acrylic paintings of old missions & landscapes. He was a well known, award winning architect from El Paso, Texas for 40 years. Bart believes that painting & architecture are strongly related because they both share a common factor - creativity.

Bart's paintings now attempt to present a pleasing & often dynamic combination of history, structure & scale. Also of importance, in his work is artistic detail, color, mood & appropriate complimentary landscaping.
