Zalla Galya

Zalla first entered the jewelry design market with her background in Psychology. She started a small glass jewelry business back east, which eventually led to retro-fitting old jewelry, redesigning and giving old family treasures a more contemporary look.

Years ago, she and her husband started buying and selling houses, which led to the designing and building of custom homes. "I love color, design and texture. My concept of jewelry design is to integrate all of these elements and create jewelry that people want touch and see how its created, as well as being able to wear it day to day."
