

Kirby Roll

I am a native of Utah & currently living in Albuquerque, NM. I enjoy traveling & exploring the Southwest, painting scenes from the back roads & little known hiking trails. I received my BFA from Westminster College in Salt Lake City, UT.

My art career began in graphic design & a short stint as an animation artist. My true passion is landscape painting, working in watercolor & oils. Recently I was selected as an artist in residence for the Wilderness Workshop in Carbondale, CO, painting scenes for the "Hidden Gems" wilderness proposal.

Living in New Mexico provides me with a great amount of inspiration, from the canyon country to mountain vistas. To explore the west & to paint the enormous variety of country is my lifetime passion.
